4 Introduction

To do this we have developed and maintain a range of policies and procedures that collect, store and transfer information in a safe and secure manner. Within this Privacy Notice we aim to make clear to customers what we do with the information we collect.

Mishandled information can have serious repercussions for MDG, including; damaging relations and reputation, fraud, breaches of the General Data Protection Regulation, financial penalties and loss of business. MDG therefore takes its responsibilities in this area seriously.

If you have a question or have comments on this Notice, then please contact our Data Protection Officer, Karen Forbes-Jackson, Resources Director on kforbes-jackson@wearemdg.com or by calling 0772 5243 067.

5 Your Rights Explained

The General Data Protection Regulation provides customers with a specific set of legal rights over your personal and sensitive data. You are entitled to ask us to:

- Provide you with a copy of your personal information. This allows you to see how and why we are using your information and that we are doing so lawfully. This is commonly known as a Subject Access Request and must be replied to within one month.
- Correct your personal information if you think it is wrong or incomplete. We will take reasonable steps to check and correct your information.
- To erase your personal information and prevent processing in specific circumstances, often referred to as the 'Right to be Forgotten'.
- To 'block' or suppress the processing of personal data in specific circumstances.
- To provide you with your personal data in a format which can be used across different IT environments, in specific circumstances.
- To accept your objection to your personal data being processed. This applies in certain circumstances.

You also have the Right to be Informed. This means that when we collect personal information from you we will explain our purposes for processing your personal data, our retention periods for that personal data, and who it will be shared with (which we do in this Notice)

You also have rights in relation to automated decision making, including profiling. We do not use automated decision making in relation to the collection of your information in support of your claim or policy.

7 What do MDG do?

MDG collect health, wellbeing and medical history information on behalf of our clients, the Data Controller. The Data Controller could be an insurer, employer or health care/claim management organisation. We are instructed to collect specific data from the customer and will not ask the customer for any more data than has been requested of us. This makes MDG the Data Processor. Data we will normally collect can include:

- Personal Data, for example, name, address, date of birth & gender, and
- Special Category Personal Data, for example, medical history, family health and life style information, for example, alcohol and drug intake.

We collect data using staff employed by us directly, through our network of medical professionals and contracted UK and Irish laboratories, who will analyse any samples taken.

The information we collect from customers is collated and stored digitally on our bespoke applications hosted at our head office in Borehamwood. Data is protected at rest and in transit by industry standard encryption methods. Data is not transferred outside of the UK unless the Data Controller has provided permission.

8 Why do MDG collect your data?

The Data Controller has requested we collect your medical history in order that they can process your claim, manage your wellbeing or underwrite your insurance policy.

9 Customer Consent

Before MDG can commence its process to collect personal and medical information, the Data Controller must have received consent to proceed. MDG will validate the customer's identity and consent, by asking the customer to confirm they are happy for us to collect their personal information.

A customer may withdraw consent at any time. This can be done by expressing this decision directly to the MDG staff member or medical expert, or by contacting the Data Controller.

10 Where does your information go?

MDG are in most circumstances the Data Processor and not the Data Controller, this means we do not store or retain your information longer than necessary for the purposes of what we do. When we have collected all the data requested by the Data Controller this will be transmitted digitally to the Data Controller. We do not share your information with any third party.

11 How long do we hold data?

MDG will ensure compliance with GDPR in respect of data retention. We will only keep your data for as long as is needed to fulfil our duties. MDG have a Data Retention Policy which sets out specifically how long customer data will be retained. Customer data will be anonymised 6 months after it is reported back to the Data Controller using automated database processes. Anonymised data is retained by MDG for management information reporting purposes and trend analysis.

Should anyone wish to raise a concern or provide feedback to us on their experience of MDG then we want to hear it. Complaints can be raised by calling our head office number on 0800 9800 633 and asking to speak to one of our Team Leaders or Managers. Customers can write to us at the address set out in section 6 or can discuss issues with the Data Controller.
